Clancy, A Sea Captain in the Desert is a biography that tells the story of John G. Clancy, a retired sea captain who moved to New Mexico to become one of the territory's largest sheep growers. He first came to New Mexico in 1873, left for a four year period, and returned to live out the remainder of his life. He was a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1910 that drafted the constitution that led to statehood for New Mexico in 1912. Billy the Kid and Pat Garrett were two of his acquaintances. He became a good friend of Alexander Grzelachowski. Clancy's step-daughter and a son would marry two of Grzelachowski's children. Grzelachowski and Clancy were very important figures in territorial New Mexico in the area around Puerto de Luna.
